The last page of the fairytale story
Is rewritten, changed into a tragedy.
Even the heart of the only person who believed is lost,
As if love and dreams were nothing more than a sandcastle, Fragile, short-lived, empty, broken, deceased. I never even wished for that.
But even so, even now, I can't forget
The melody you always sang.
It vibrates in my chest, and I feel I can return. To that time
Surely, surely I will return. Shake off the chains that bind me,
Toward the blue ocean of the two connected worlds-- Absolutely!
Only love can overcome everything.
Even fate decided by the stars can be changed.
Disappear! The cowardly lie, and the present, too...
