Sara
"You Opened My Eyes"

Visit "You Opened My Eyes" on MotoLyrics.com

You opened my eyes and you showed me the world.
The world that I thought I could see.
You showed me the peice of life I was missing, you showed me that, that peice was me. I lost myself, and forgot who I was.
You showed me just how much I had changed.
I'm not the same person I used to be I'm different... I'm not me.

Chorus:I thought I was a punk, but you showed I'm a princess.
I thought I was ugly, you showed me I'm beautiful.
I thought I'd never belong in this life, and you told me I belong to you.

I am not who I thought I was. You took me and you taught me to see.
All of the wonderful things in this life, that I didn't know there could be.
You took my hand, and you guided me, through the shadows of the life I had.
The life that I have, and the life that I had, I see them both so clearly...
You opened my eyes and you showed me the sun.
The dawning of my brand new beginging.
You pushed me foreward, just when I thought all I could ever do is go back.
Because...
Chorus:I thought I was a punk, but you showed me I'm a princess.
I thought I was ugly, you showed me I'm bautiful.
I thought I'd never belong in this life, and you told me I belong to you.

I thought I was alone, and I felt scared.
But now I know you'll always be there... for me.
Because you... opened my eyes and you showed me the world. The world that I thought I could see. You showed me a peice of life I was missing, you showed me that that peice was me.
I thought I lost myelf, and forgot who I was. You showed me just how much life can change.

I'm not the same person I used to be... I'm different.
I'm finally... me.