Here in the stillness where thoughts are born here in our frailty we're tattered and torn here in confession here in our mess here in the place where we're mostly undressed - mostly

oh honesty, oh honestly, the truth be told for the saving
of our soul

here in the corner where we craft our pain here in the open we're laying our blame here in the hallway here behind doors

here in the places we wage our private wars

Only the truth and truthfulness can save us now/ only the truth and truthfulness can save us
can save us now
