I thought I'd find
A warmth underneath the ice
Waited for a sign
A drift or a shift in light

Sleet sheets for snow
Breathe you before you go
A ring through a telescope
A spring where the well was choked

Dig a hollow for your sorrows
Bury all you've lost
What's forgiven is forgotten
Now the stars have crossed

Before the sky is dark
Which things still linger on?
Take what you thought was gone
And hear what your heart could not

Dig a hollow for your sorrows
Bury all you've lost
What's forgiven is forgotten
Now the stars have crossed
