"Moment To Remember"

I feel my live's broken, no chance to find my way home These memories won't disappear all my clearness is fading
I leave this scene of sorrows, these memories won't disappear
And I passed remedy

Time goes by, I try to forget all these incidents
But they are chained in my head, I feel guiltless, so defenseless
But coevally I am so reckless, do I remember
What I need and what I fear
How can I decide

When does it make sense to come to an end
There is one thing where I was wrong, have to stop to pretend

Life is broken, chance to find home
Memories won't disappear
Life is broken, chance to find home
Memories won't disappear

Time goes by and in the end I see a light, try to fight
And nothing here can stop me now
Time goes by, so go and break your rusty chains
Try to fight, try to fight
