Sometimes it takes some falling down
To get back on your feet
I often think the things I want
Are things I really need

I noticed yesterday that lately
I haven't noticed much
Colours change and people change
And I am busy handling the remote

When you see this side
Don't let me drag you down
When you feel this weight
Don't let me drag you down
I need you to turn me upside down

In every room of every house
Someone's always waiting to be heard
Sitting on my big behind
I am hardly rescuing the world

When you see this side
Don't let me drag you down
When you feel this weight
Don't let me drag you down
I need you to turn me upside down

Don't let me hide
Behind the question why

When you see this side
Don't let me drag you down
When you feel this weight
Don't let me drag you down
I need you to turn me upside down
