I'm so confused
Even while I know truth
Frozen pictures come alive
The comeback kids who let me die
When I didn't know the answers
And the reason why the winter is begging for a fairytale
Tomorrow never sleeps
Behind the strangers
Where the children weep
A feather is drifting through my view
And all we have to do
Is to keep these broken wings
So they might fly
I'm so confused
Even while I know the truth
Thunderstorms and lightning
Not the bitter eye and the burning tongue
Nothing is stronger than my love
A whisper of dark cold air could cover up the little stare
You must search for the truth
You will find it
But I'm so confused
Even while I know the truth
Everyone needs someone
To feel the night has not yet died
I'm so confused
Even while I know what's true
I'm so confused
