You've got a way with words
You've got a way that makes me feel so complicated
Your message meets the floor
The horizon meets your horse and you're deliberating
I'm only clearing my throat

Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never see
Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never know
You might never know

You've got a way with words
You've got a way that makes me feel so complicated
A wall keeps you from me
You'd raze the doors down just so you could find the key
The wolves are waiting

Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never see
Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never know
You might never know

I'm underground
As the words just spin around
And you hunt them down
Try to pin them to the ground
There'll be no sound
As the words just tumble out
And you won't be found by the time you've hit the ground

You've got a way with words X3

Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never see
Don't you ever wish for just one thing you might never know
Oh you might never know
(Don't you ever wish for, don't you ever wish for)

You might never know
You might never know
(Don't you ever wish for, don't you ever wish for)
Oh, you might never know
