

Masquerade

"Cherry Waves"

Visit "Cherry Waves" on MotoLyrics.com

She was smoking alone outside, he was broken he had tears in his eyes, they were a couple but now that love has died, she asked him why,

before he said good-bye,
he said,

Your lips taste like cherry waves,
they bring me back to my drifting days,
you're sunshine but I'm only getting rain,
and I've known, Since I first saw your face.

Spending nights in a cheap motel, dim lights it's feels like hell, turns out life ain't so swell.

Can't bare to live another day, Now I just want you to say.

Your lips taste like cherry waves,
they bring me back to my drifting days,
you're sunshine but I'm only getting rain,
and I've known, Since I first saw your face.

and it's hard loving someone like you, all the things you put me through,
from all of this I still love you, you stole my heart,
now you're gone too.

Just before she died,
he let out one last cry.
He said,

Visit Masquerade page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.