I'd take you to a restaurant
But I don't have any money
I'd take you for a drive
But I don't have a car
I'd take you to Paris
But I don't have a jet

So I hope you'll settle
For a claim on my heart

I'd take you to the moon
But I don't have a rocket
I'd take you to heaven
But I wouldn't know where to start
I'd take you as far
As my imagination would let it

But I hope you'll settle
For a claim on my heart

If you'll just bear with me for a moment
I'm sure that we can find
All that we once held is true
It's in a crevice
Embedded in my heart
And it's solid as a stone

I'll search the world
For laughter you've never heard
I'll find the pieces
That are missing to the part
I'll tell you the secrets
Untold and hidden

But I hope you're happiest
With a claim on my heart
