Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short time

Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short, short time

The hardest step is always the first one
All things will come to you once you're in motion

Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short time

The roughest journey is from the head to the heart
Guide yourself wisely, take courage in the dark
Ooh, courage in the dark

Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short, short time

Advice can be deceiving
Action brings speed to self-believing

Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short, short time

Don't give up, you've just started
You've come so far in such a short, short, short time

In time you will find, in time you will find
In time you will find, in time you will find
In time you will find, in time you will find
