How much is too much?
How much can one take
'Till a soul finally breaks?

How far is too far?
When nothing looks right
No end to the night...

Hold on love
It's all on the line
But you'll be alright
Lift up your head
You must be strong
Must sing out your song

How wrong is too wrong?
'Till you feel so misled
Into a world of regret

How long is too long?
To trade the truth for a lie
Until there's no where to hide

Hold on love
It's all on the line
But you'll be alright
Lift up your head
You must be strong
Must sing out your song

Dropping defenses
Those rough bloody edges
That open the gate of the hate that en-cages
Hello to new life
Means hello to goodbye
Welcome the change rearranging the inside

Hold on love
It's all on the line
But you'll be alright
Lift up your head

You must be strong

Hold on love
It's all on the line
But you'll be alright
Lift up your head
You must be strong
Must sing out your song
