All you did was say good morning
And pour some coffee in a cup
You turn that sleepy smile toward me
And no, it doesn't sound like much.

But it goes deep down, it wraps around my soul,
You don't have to try babe,
You don't even know.
It's like there's something magic
In every little thing you do.
That's just everyday you.

You can be on the phone laughing.
Just push the hair back from your face.
Or touch my hand just in passing,
Believe me girl that's all it takes.

And it goes deep down, it wraps around my soul.
You don't have to try babe.
You don't even know.
It's like there's something magic
In every little thing you do.
That's just everyday you.

Stand where I stand,
See what I see,
Feel what I'm feeling way down deep.

It wraps around my soul,
You don't have to try
You don't even know
It's like there's something magic
In every little thing you do
That's just everyday you.
Everyday you, babe
