no more explanations why or when you lost the will not another reason no more telling me why i rather be a question walking with concrete on my feet if it's even possible at all you dont even look at me as we speak and my body's become poison to you my love

dont you dedicate the last page to me dont say i have the last word
'cause if i would, you'd be at our table talking 'bout your day

dont make me think it's for the best dont tell me it's you, not me
'cause if i've done everything right, baby you'd be here with me

no more confessions when and how it made you feel no more lying and not another excuse i rather play the fool pretending it's sunny when it rains

my love

dont say i have the last word

dont say it's for the best, don't tell me i'll be fine 'cause everything i am, i am because of you and what's left is the rest of what used to be my family

dont say i have the last word

'cause if i've done everything right, baby
