i find myself falling asleep on your pillow thinking about all the ways you love me 'cause baby, nothing's as real as the way you like to hold me and you'd never let me go

and we no longer fight
and i dont always have to be right and whatever comes our way i'll be holding on

even when i hesitate when we're about to turn another page when it comes down to it, this is true because in my next life, i'll be looking for you
