how am i suppose to trust what we never could achieve? this goal is our mission you dont have to leave you drink me up until you get tired making me ask for more

this sounds like the stupid things we used to say before
this looks like the same place
where we were before
dont leave me wanting more

how am i suppose to go when you ask me to stay?
you make me trust you and then you walk away

you inhale my soul until you get tired

why am i saying these things to you they sound like the stupid things we said before
