your body is made to fit mine someone must have made it happend a very long time ago
'cause your head matches my shoulder we're almost the same height and i'm good at drying your tears even when you've faced your darkest fears i'm learning how to say 'i love you' in every language to give you something new every day under a rainbow that never seems to fade my dreams came to life in your embrace and you make me fall, over and over everytime you call my name and nothing else compares nothing else compares you're ment to be my man and you're the one i want to live with for the rest of my life i love the way you tickle me into laughter how you make the dinner taste and you're good, so good at kissing i wouldnt be anything without you embrace
