how many times havent i given it a try just to fall back into the same line into the same direction i've been walking this street since i i was born thought if i'd find the right way the answers would come along but i was wrong

'cause every day is a new way of asking how the hell did i get here and what is the reason

then you look at me and i can finally see it's like i understand, the person that i am and
why i got here,
why it was ment to be this way and no matter the tears from the passed years
'cause the road i walked on was leading me home i was walking home to you how many nights havent i spent wondering only to end up where i started to think where i always begin i've crossed many roads and learned my lessions thought if i stopped asking myself i'd wake up happy someday but i was never OK and every day is a new way of feeling butterflies in the springtime and rain when it's cold

why i got here,

i used to sit here asking, and wondering, asking, and wondering again and again and again

why i got here,

to you
