if i could i'd break it to you in a more sensible way but your ego's to big, mr it takes the whole place i couldn't put my hand in yours and walk down the street

show every one that this is the beautiful man i've met oh, i should have known

when you tried to do it right you broke my heart in two and nothing matters no more, no matter what you do you can not make it right and replace the fights but man, you really had me fooled

i colored my hair red to show them i've changed 'cause i'm not the same i'd never let you in again

show every one that this is the beautiful man i've met

you can not make it right and replace the fights

and nothing matters no more, no matter what you do
you can not make it right and replace the fights
