Contemplating everyday
Wondering if I'm wasting all of my time
You know I'm dedicating
Every thought on only you

My mommy used to taught me that
Patience is a virtue

And so I wait through the night
'cause tomorrow you may find
That you will need me again
For some times I love and care
And so I wait hoping you,
Will discover you're in love
That you need me as much as I need you

And so I'll wait all my life
Hoping one day you will see that
Love's a lock you're the key
You will come and rescue me
And so I wait hoping you,
Will discover you're in love
That you need me as much as I need you

It gets frustrating time and again
But I am not complaining 'cause in the end
If I just keep believing
No matter what I'll be with you

My mommy used to taught me that
Patience is a virtue

And so I wait through the night
'cause tomorrow you may find
That you will need me again
For some times I love and care
And so I wait hoping you,
Will discover you're in love
That you need me as much as I need you

And so I wait through the night
'cause tomorrow you may find

That you will need me again
For some times I love and care
And so I wait hoping you,
Will discover you're in love
That you need me as much as I need you
