I am a man, as a man I must think freely
I can't believe all I'm told
I try all I can, all I can, but I see clearly
There is no immortal soul
If God is so just, how can he damn me
If He made me who I am
God is a lie and the lie must be wiped out
Man chooses his own fate

They say that Jesus died to take away my sins
No one takes from me, not even Him
They say the Torah is God's law, more laws to keep me down
Krsna says there's karma, what goes around comes around
But i'm a nonbeliever, the biggest sinner you ever met
I sin every day, and I'm not dead yet
I'll fight against your God, I'll fight against his lie
If I must live to please God then I'd rather die
