The worst thing is the silence, ringing in my ears Waking up from a dream to remember your not here and some days im so lonely i can barely even breathe then something will remind me that ur still right here with me

CHORUS

and your the light house, leading me home, Guiding me through every storm
And your the sun, that shines on my face, The warming embrace, the light of my day
Your the lighthouse

I long to hear laughter, to look into your eyes And i miss the way we used to talk until the sun would rise
And some day im so angry you were taken far too soon but i know your right beside me and your carrying me through

CHORUS

And i swear that i can feel you Your breath upon my skin And when ever i need you i can you whispering oh when ever i need you i can hear you whispering

and your the lighthouse, leading me home
guiding me through, every storm and yeah your the sun that shines on my face the warming embrace, the light of my days
your the light house
your the light house
and your leading me home oh yeah
