I've been lost and loney
Always searching for my place
Just trying to find that something
I was looking for your face

I was aching for my heart to be loved
And i was craving for my soul to be touched

Then you came along, you opened my eyes
I felt like I'd know you for all of my life
You reached out your hand and you held me so tight
'Cause my soul cried
My soul cried

And from now everything has changed
And I can see just what is true

It's like my whole life that has been
Was just to get me here to you

I was aching for my heart to be loved
And I was craving for my soul to be touched

Chorus

So baby now I've found you
I won't be searching anymore
I knew from that first word
You were the one I'm looking for

I was aching for my heart to be loved
And I was craving for my soul to be touched

Chorus
