

Satanic Surfers "Better Of Today"

Visit "Better Of Today" on MotoLyrics.com it was on the tip of her tounge but she didn't say a word why did she sometimes take shit that she did not deserve she wore a smile on her face as a disguise to hide the tears in her eyes and she just let the time go by she turned away so that no one would see her sad where had the love gone that they once had she only cried when she was alone when her husband and the children were not home and she just let the years go by but one day she'd had enoughpacked her things, went out the door I've seen the pictures if when she was young of the happy girl she was before she met the man of her dreams fell in love an suddenly she found herself in a situation she thought she'd never be but I know that she's better off today all that time, all those years so little joy and too many tears all the sacrifices had made for him all he things she'd given up just to please that man but now that she is on her own she can smile again just like that happy girl she once was

Visit Satanic Surfers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.