

Satanic Surfers

"One Kid's Defiance"

Visit "One Kid's Defiance" on MotoLyrics.com

I'd rather be pathetic at the age of 45 than sell out my ideals to live a fucking lie I'd trade my freedom for a false sense of security, working for death, digging my own grave but as long's my lungs keep me breathing and my heart keeps beating, yeah, as long as I'm alive this unreasonable hope will persist [x2] (If I didn't give up then)
Why should I give up now?
(I'm gonna live my life)
To it's fullest potential [x2]
Cause resistance, resistance, resistance has no age
One kid's defiance just might make the difference

They say it's just a faze, a youthful rebellion and soon enough we'll grow out of it Trade our freedom for a false sense of security, working for death, digging our own graves but as long's my lungs keep me breathing and my heart keeps beating, yeah, as long as I'm alive this unreasonable hope will persist

Visit Satanic Surfers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.