"Throw in the Towel"

Is this how we are trained to serve, we assume a way of life into which we're born, fit in a mould of acceptance, conformity and consumption, never questioning our freedom, embracing the privilege not to care

(How we are trained)

We allow ourselves to Slide into a state of apathy, granted to us by this consumerist culture

Yeah

We live our lives with the knowledge of global suffering and exploitation, still we dissociate ourselves from the problem

Detach ourselves from Compassion and outrage [x2]

Tell me, what right do we have To throw in the towel, throw in the towel, throw in the towel, our privileged lives

(Our privileged lives)

Should make us feel obliged

(Should make us feel obliged)

To at least try to maintain some kind of awareness
