I could break into a thousand piece
Crashing to the floor
You can't stare into my bloodshot eyes
I'm coming back for more

I could tear you apart
Just one more time
To settle up the score
And I won't break into a thousand pieces
Crashing to the floor
Anymore.

I can't take one more second living with you
And now its over (over), and I am colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away
And now it's over (over), and I am colder
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away

I will stay below my broken surface
Underneath the floor
And I still pray to make it through this breathing
Coming back for more.

You could tear me apart just one more time
Like you did before
And I won't break into a thousand pieces
Crashing to the floor
Anymore

I can't take one more second living with you
and now its over (over), and i am colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away
and now its over (over), and i am colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away from you

If I can make it out alive
Make it out alive

Make it out alive
Make it out alive

If I could make it out, I'd do it all for you
If I could make it out, I'd take you from where you're going to be
If I could make it out, I'd do it all for you

It's over (over), and I'm colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
Still running away
Over (over), and I am colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
Still running away, running away
And now its over (over), and I am colder (colder)
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away from you

And I can't let go
Pulling from you
Running away, running away
Im still running away, running away from you
And I can't let go
Pulling from you
I'm still running away, running away
I'm still running away, running away from you
