Change my mind, give me something new
Not those very bad dreams you always take me to
I got away from the stars, got away from you
You made me feel like everything was true

Can you tell me where's everything I lost,
Why the sun goes blind when I need it most?
'Cause When I close my eyes, memories turn to dust
All that I can find's just the distant ghost

Of a wild light, that shines above, and that I'm floating to
It's a sad smile, I feel love, I feel close to you

Pictures run by, that I can't get right
That I fail to catch, now they're out of sight
I watch my fate to kill my time
A rush of blood's just the way it dies

My thoughts are blowing, I shake my head
'Cause there's something strange with the way light fades
And now I'm easy, and now I'm sane
I know it's not real so I feel no pain

It's a wild light, that shines above and that I'm floating
to
It's a sad smile, I feel love I feel close to you

Faces like shadows standing in my sight
As the winter glows in the new daylight
The sun sails away, sends it's last goodbyes
Yet yesterday you told me we would never go down

Parts of the puzzle run through my head
They're all dancing round through a blue-green haze
The skys fall down, and fall from grace
As the world gets drowned in the outer space

My mind is getting empty too
And now I can't see clear 'cause I got bad news

That I'm away from the sun, I got close to you And as tomorrow will come, the last lonely view (of that)

Wild light, that shines above and that I'm floating to
It's a sad smile, I feel love I feel close to you
It's a wild light, that shines above, inside that tunnel too
And it's a sad smile, I feel you, death, I feel close to you.
