i see your true colors shining through i see your true color and thats why i luv you (i'm from the ghetto)
i see your true color shining through (straight up)
i see your true color and thats why i love you baby (we'll make it up)

yo, don't forget we all tryin to survive where we live, i'd rather feed the homeless,
take time,
or talk to the kids,
show them life ain't a walk on the bridge, damn as hard as it is, when i be dreaming i be talkin the BIG in my hood it ain't no yellow brick road you hear the shots, echo, sneakers hangin from a telephone pole in my ghetto ain't no rainbow, no pots of gold but there was love from the family when times are cold i sit and analyze the world from my project roof and seen the hope in the eyes of a troubled youth a good killa keppa burnin in this rubber goose a motherless child lost in these streets loose In the mortal world this is a rainy day my man got popped at an early age his college friends say flipped in to his early grave they say the good, the young be headed to them pearly gates

(straight up)
i see your true color and thats why i luv you (i can see through you) i see your true color shining thru (i know you ain't really like that) i see your true color and thats why i love you yo, they say this love wuzn't meant to be, two people from two different worlds we wuzn't meant to be

it must of been fate you were sent to me we'll make it through these hard times..eventually let's stand and fight,walk by faith,not by sight we're all the same color when you turn out the light i'll take the sunshine with the pain grab my savior gods sad thats when it rains no frige kept the food on the window pane we all breathe the same air so we all the same i'm trapped in this ghetto maze tryin to make it out if you don't kno me don't judge me what you talkin bout of all the bottom boulavards of the broken dreams, single mothers your my heros, your my queens to get muh moms out the hood, thats' my hope and dreams to raise my son to be a soldier by ANY means

(i see your true color)
(true colors)
i see your true color shining thru (ohhh)
i see your true color and thats why i love you
i see your true color shining thru (i see... and i kno its true) repeat 3?
mmm hmmm true colors i c baby..
(music fades)
