A sudden fear brought to the public eye
We're trading places with the men
Who said we're stronger when we're unified
But now we've come to question all their lies

It's just one great race
To finish first with public gain
We all just waste space
Finding truth in what they say

You point the finger
Who takes the blame?
Who is our leader? Who wants the fame?
Ask the questions and hear the lies
Find the answers
Ignore the noise

We have to think if what we do is right
We hold our enemies to dear
Pretend to stand and be there by their side
But using up the power of their lives

It's just one grey race
Finding truth in what they say
We all just waste space
Finding truth in what they say

You point the finger
Who takes the blame?
Who is our leader? who wants the fame?
Ask the questions and hear the lies
Find the answers
Ignore the noise
