when you love someone and you lose them sleep is the best way to freedom from the living pain that you suffer every day you wake you remember she is missing from your surroundings it's an unpleasant awakening don't want to live and i don't want to die i just want to be comforted by sleep!

i lost in life didn't lose in death i wonder which is easiest i believe in worlds greater than this places to go places of bliss she was a friendship gone wrong this is a world gone wrong death is not so bad parting is harder sleep is the middle man, sleep is peace!

he's got a freelance lifestyle, he's a dole dodger gets his own work if he can be bothered wakes every morning and looks at the room wondering if success will come soon looks at his diary, nothing's in it no ideas, no love, no spirit the weather's appalling so he buries himself in that warm quilt and sleeps!

sleep can bury your ego sleep can let your soul go you can experience deja vu feel things like light and truth dream you can master yourself in the future love everyone that you ever knew life is a hangover, life is cold, life is a comedown compared to sleep!

now sleep
