Dr Baker phoned me in the morning
Left a note, he's still yawning
Dr Baker phoned me in the morning
Left a note, she couldn't make it
How did she ever take a lesson outside his head?

Dr Baker phoned me in the morning
He couldn't understand, he was a busy man
Tried to reach him again, plead with him
Please come, please come, please come
Please come, please come, please come

See me lost inside
You will see me lost how high

Hovering and hovering and hovering on
Hovering and hovering and hovering on
I'm a-hovering and hovering and hovering on
Hovering and hovering and hovering on

Dr Baker phoned me again later that day
Said he cried and he really sounded out of it
His wife was dead and his dog was dead
And misery planned inside his head
I tried to reason with him, tried singing
He said, 'no boy, you'll never listen'
Try it again
Try it again
Try it again

See me lost inside
You will see me lost how high

Hovering and hovering and hovering on
I'm a hovering and hovering and hovering on
