"Quiet"

There's a quiet little man and he sits at his window Doesn't make a sound but he watches where the wind blows Wants to go outside fears wouldn't let him [Force] a little smile and the fears come rolling la la bum bum dum dum dum dum
You can go outside where the sun & the people blind you
You can go outside where the love of the people finds you - it will find you When he walks through the maze in the circles of his back place [While the Jew] on his roof is still tieing up his shoelace He will [never curse] again all the days on his home spent Nailing all the doors & jumping through the window
