One more night and you're gone
I slept awake
One more day holding on
I know this road
It walks much better if I'm alone
And I know if I follow it
It will lead me home

It's getting cold as the sun goes down
On the avenue
Where we walked our days away
And time it shows as the years go by
That things change
I grow, but you... you stay the same

How do I hold onto you when you're dying
When you're dying to let go?
How do I make it through when I'm trying
When I'm trying to hold on
How can I get through to you if I'm lying
If I'm lying to myself
To myself

I'm holding on to you, I'm holding on...

I gave you all I had
And I loved you so bad
If you'd only see me now

How do I hold onto you when you're dying
When you're dying to let go?
How do I make it through when I'm trying
When I'm trying to hold on
How can I get through to you if I'm lying
If I'm lying to myself
To myself

I'm holding on to you, I'm holding on...
