whispers keep on pushing me tell me i've gone wrong tellin' me be careful, one slip and you're gone it's getting late, getting dark now it's time i headed back when i find the right direction it keeps pushing me off track and there's a dark wind blowing, blowing from home (x2)
i know i've made some big mistakes i know i'll have to pay i know i have a few regrets who's been perfect all the way? now the sun's gone down a good while and nature's disappeared the wind's got so much colder and it's playing on my fears and there's a dark wind blowing, blowing from home (x2)
i think i get the message it's time to make my peace the more you pull against it you'll never be released i'll make it home i know i can there's battles to be fought the weather's changed since i left and it's harder than i thought and there's a dark wind blowing..... blowing from home.....
