Under the gaze of Baphomet, I invoke my emperor
I feel a cold and cozy breeze
The one takes me towards the abyss
Blood sprouts of the altar, the gong announces you
Fill of hatred and thirst of revenge
His sword crosses the weak hearts

My black candles are lit
The black book is opened and names his princes
They take the chalice drink the blood of the lamb
The emperor opens the doors of the hell
And liberates the evilness to destroy his enemies

My heart of evilness cries out to Satan
My heart of hatred cries out to Satan
My heart of revenge cries out to Satan

The bells are sounding give me the sign
Death and the destruction have come
The malignant forces already are in us
To serve our god Sathanas

My heart of evilness cries out to Satan
My heart of hatred cries out to Satan
My heart of revenge cries out to Satan
