Lights flicker then they fade and nothing at all Communications breaking down while empires fall
Thousands crossing over in a race with the sun
Crawling on each other like the end of days have come

All that I can think of is how to get to you
Reassured that you're the one always gets me through

Generator

Holding on on our way down so not to fall

Reaching for the breakers switches on a wall Clutching onto matches candles that you brought Remember when you told me how much you love the dark

All that I can say for sure is that we've come this far Rest assured that you're the one who always holds my Heart
