Life goes on in the streets of my hood when you die but some cry, and gets by, while others choose to wonder why..

his life was took at such an early age
A young nigga who lived in a rage died by the gauge
He used to hustle on the street corners
His mom would always beg him to quit, but he didn't wanna

As he got older, he got even worse til a real nigga showed him the purpose of a hearse
A cold night in his hood, he had a tangle
The brother he was squabblin with, had broke his ankle Laid him out in the driveway
Some people knew he wouldn't survive, but hey
I ain't the one to speak up on another's
All I can do is try to open his eyes and help the brother He chose the wrong way and that's the route he took Born and brought up as an angel but he died as a crook

He had a baby that he couldn't raise and she will never see her father again, cause he's in a grave

I always think about ??

"My daddy was a dopeman, so I'ma be a dope dealer"

How will the family explain it?

"My daughter had a baby for a 'caine head!"

He ain't around to see her walk

Dry her eyes when she cries, pick her up when she falls

Just the thought of a kid livin fly fucks me up when his girl has to raise a BASTARD child

It gets deeper, he used to punch her and beat her

She was loyal to his ass but accused as a cheater

She had a good deck but she picked the wrong card

Had a kid, now she's realizin life is hard

A big time dope dealer's all she wanted who drove a Jag or a Benz so she could flaunt it

The situation's got me guessin..

but the answer remains to be a question

He lived his life in a lie

I guess you only get a minute to pray, and a second to die

It was crazy how it happened
Some niggaz rolled by in the Riviera cappin
All I could see was a pistol spittin rounds and the boy was just screamin as he fell to the ground

A woman yelled - get an ambulance
But I knew he was dead, he didn't stand a chance
You shoulda seen him, he was scared
A bullet goes to his chest, and one to his head
He just laid there in silence.. and all I heard was the sirens Paramedics pulled up..
followed by a law man and then came a firetruck Put his ass on the stretcher.. but if he survives, I'm willin to betcha he'll be out for revenge
They patched him up within a week he was back at it again
Went to his brother on the Northside
Grab your shit, it's a hit, we're gonna take a long ride
Packed it up in the trunk
AK-47, M-11 and a pump Rolled by ?? on Scott Street
School was lettin out,
"Yo you ain't gonna shoot yet?" "WATCH ME!"
Opened his trunk and grabbed a shotgun..
.. he shot him
Put his tooly on the front seat
Continued his mission, as he headed down the street
The kids was just starin at each other
J.D. rolled by and smoked black's brother Reached in his coat and grabbed a 'port Full speed down Reed, shot his mom on the porch
On his way down Cullard
His brother was just dazed in a shock, "Why you do it?"
"Why you shot his moms Jay? Shit"
"Hehehehehe.. hah man fuck that bitch"
Went to the store to use the payphone
Called up Mack, "Ayyo J.D. homey" Hung it up and rolled down Dagger Headin for the nigga he was after
By the time he arrived at the scene
Malcolm was ready for anything
He tried to sneak around the back way
Never thought of bein taken out on that day
Black boy, black coat
Stood around the corner as he passed slit his throat

He didn't fall so he fired
One to the middle of his skull, he's expired
A whole army came out
Twenty-seven niggaz all strapped out of one house
That how it happens in the acre
One nigga died in the park in the paper
Shit gets deeper but why?
I guess you only get a minute to pray,
and a second to die
