Don't get rid of the trees to avoid the fire
Don't come at night to find the sun
Can it be so hard to see is it you or maybe me

You say it eloquently but you're a liar
It's easy to see what's right or wrong
Tell me do you disagree
Or am I the only one

That's not the way you will repay
Now that the damage has been done
That's not the way you devastate
Now that the battle has begun
If it's the way it's much too late
Now the damage has been done

They fight and they fall but you are the hero
You profit on someone else's pain
Well is this the state of play
What a surprise you win again
It's time that you took a look around you
Through all the spin that you've spun
You can't hide so you'd better run
What has been done can't be undone

That's not the way you will repay
Now that the damage has been done
That's not the way you devastate
Now that the battle has begun
If it's the way it's much too late
Now the damage has been done

Ooh

That's not the way you will repay
Now that the damage has been done
That's not the way you devastate
Now that the battle has begun
If it's the way it's much too late
Now the damage has been done
