Have you ever been mocked, people
It's what everyone of us should feel today
Have you ever been mocked, people
It's what everyone of us should feel today
There's someone who rules and someone who breaches
But you know this time it's the two sides of the same dime

I can't savour this holiday time at all
Those old thoughts keep on muscle in
I can't savour this holiday time at all
Those old thoughts keep on muscle in
I better find out some new places and new faces
Before I get crazy, man you know I'm almost so

I feel a little bit unsatisfied these days
Too many thoughts been crowded in here
I feel a little bit unsatisfied these days
Too many thoughts been crowded in here
I must make some room before I get fused
Now I have to choose

Is it from this you can tell a man from the sand?
It's just the wrong moment, not the wrong man
Is it from this you can tell a man from the sand?
It's just the wrong moment, not the wrong man
I can wait, oh I can wait
You know sometimes the haste's the mother of the mistake.
