"Another Space And Time"

All of our time - still on my mind
Needless to say I miss you every day
Know your shadow's gonna fall
On another bedroom wall
Have a reason to believe you won't answer when I call

There's another way of losing you tonight
Know another name to yell when things ain't right
Then another sad reaction when you say
In another space and time - and walk away

Promises fade - silence remains
The only one I'm sure I'll meet again
At the end of lover's lane
On the sign without your name
In a letter telling me I should raise my head again

There's another way of losing you tonight
Know another name to yell when things ain't right
Then another sad reaction when you say
In another space and time - and walk away

I've been searching and searching
For a moment of truth
Now tears flow - washing away
Reasons
Why there is another way of losing you tonight
