Her eyes were empty, her perfume was sweet
As she maneuvered in from the street
She didn't know I would be there Should've seen her face when I came down the stairs

Caught in her own devices, caught in my rage Standin' there lost in silence, the perfect crime, my fatal mistake

I saw the smoke of the revolution, in the battle between you and I
When you leave me only one solution, do we say goodbye, say goodbye

You made me follow the game that you play It's hard to swallow when you've been betrayed
All the king's horses and all the king's men Could not put us back together again

I should have seen it coming, the taste of your kiss
You were so cold and cunning
You chose your weapon but you fired and missed

Chorus:
I saw the smoke of the revolution, in the battle between
you and I
When you leave me only one solution, do we say
goodbye, say goodbye
I was hopin' for a resurrection, but when everything went up in flames
I heard a hollow voice with no connection, call my name, call my name

You run through the night, chasin' yourself till you do it all over again
Bridges will burn (bridges will burn), you can't go back home
Just think of me and suddenly you're alone chorus repeats 2x
