All of the guys in this town

Say get out of her way, slow down

You've never met Miss hit and run

She will break your heart in two

You don't know what she can do

Of any of the girls you meet

She's gonna lead you down a one way street

And then you're really hurting deep

You should have known better, you should have known better

You should have known better, you should have known better

I should have known better, I should have known better

You should have known better, you should have known better

She will break your heart in two

You don't know what she can do

Watch out fellas

she's gonna break your heart

She's gonna run - run

She will take you for a ride

And leave you hurtin' deep inside

And if you see her red light

And you think you should stop, you're dead right

You've never met Miss hit and run

You should have known better, you should have known better

She will break your heart in two

You don't know what she can do

She will take you for a ride

And leave you hurting deep inside
