As I walk the dusty road of this old life
There are times I pass through desert canyons filled with inner strife
And I question all I've known like a blindman at the grindstone Eternity it calls me on
But I've got miles to tread 'til dawn

Jesus, Beautiful One won't you save me?
Find me, break this dark mist with your glory!
Oh Savior, bring living water I'm yearning
Fields blaze, foptails and torches still burning

I can't but Jesus you can

Lord let me die as your man
On these mighty pillars
Place my hands

There's a thirst for righteousness inside my soul
There's a hunger deep within for holiness I can't ignore
But the world would see me stained Flaming arrows fall like rain
Even brave men fall apart
In an age of endless dark

Jesus, Beautiful One won't you save me?
I know there's no hope outside of your glory!
Oh Savior, rip out this black heart renew me!
Cast out all of these devils I can't see
