I've been running
I've been running
Since the day, that we met
And its been, the same old shit
I've been making
I've been making
I've been making
The same mistakes
Again, and again

Cause the girls at the door now
They're laughing at you but you don't want to look
And you wanna die
It's such a shame
And the rain's coming down
Oh what an irony
And the moons laughing now
I say cut your losses

Well happy, happy new years
To you my friend

Cause the girls at the door now
They're laughing at you but you don't want to look
And you wanna die
It's such a shame
And the rain's coming down
Oh what an irony
And the moons laughing now
I say you better cut your losses

Well happy, happy new years
To you my friend

Well it's the love and the hate and the feeling that you get when it all goes away
My hearts on fire

Well the girl in the blue jeans and the long blonde hair, comes walking in the door
I said oh my god girl, how you get looking that way?

You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out

You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out

Cause I wanted to fly

Cause the girls at the door now
They're laughing at you but you don't want to look
And you wanna die
It's such a shame
And the rain's coming down
Oh what an irony
I say you better cut your losses

Well happy, happy new years
To you my friend

You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out

You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out
You gotta kick em out

Cause I wanted to fly
