Fairweather friend
It took me too long to find out
What I was in for
And fairweather friend
Here is a song to ease your worried mind
And it's all right if you stay with me tonight
Until the rain passes by

You're taking it all away
I never had the time to say
Give it to the sandman, give it to the rain
We're bleeding insane trails of memory
Leave it all behind us,
It wouldn't be the same

In time you begin to fold all your things up
Packing with subtle indifference
And all that we dreamt of was everything
Waiting, until we could leave
And it's all right
If you'll stay with me tonight
Until the rain passes by

You're taking it all away
I never had the time to say
Give it to the sandman, give it to the rain
We're bleeding insane trails of memory
Leave it all behind us,
It wouldn't be the same

'Cause I'm growing old waiting for you to come around
To come around

You're taking it all away
I never had the time to say
Give it to the sandman, give it to the rain
We're bleeding insane trails of memory
Leave it all behind us,
It wouldn't be the same

You're taking it all away

I never had the time to say
Give it to the sandman, give it to the rain

Give it to the sandman (Give it to the sandman)
Give it to the rain (Give it to the rain)
Give it to the sandman (Give it to the sandman)
Give it to the rain (Give it to the rain)
