I could say that I'm alright
I think that's what you want to hear
But every time I step out of this door
I just want to reappear
Somewhere else
A place I made up in my head
Before this world
Started taking pieces away

Just one breath that I can breathe
Just one honest untouched scene
Just one taste of rust to show the bars to the cage are bending
Just one melody that I can really sing
After all you've taken, can you give me this one true
thing

I could sway my feelings for yet another wasted day
Never once will I be broken
I will lock my heart away

Somewhere else
A key I hid inside my hand before the world
Started making its escape
I'm planning my escape

Just one breath that I can breathe
Just one honest untouched scene
Just one taste of rust to show the bars to the cage are
bending
Just one melody that I can really sing
After all you've taken, can you give me this one true
thing

Three AM I wake myself from what I hope is a dream
Too many times I'm left with nothing
I'm down to one
I'm down to one

Just one breath that I can breathe
Just one honest untouched scene

Just one taste of rust to show the bars the the cage are
bending
Just one melody that I can really sing
After all you've taken, can you give me this one true
thing

I'm down to one
I'm down to one
