I caught your wish
I made your night
Out by the lake
And under the lamplights
We screamed at the world
You told me you're right
You said it was alright
You told me I was right

And for you but now
We seem just a mess
Of all your intentions
That you forgot to mention
That this was not a rule
To be whatever you say
Only a guideline
To help me change

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me
And my indecision
That matters the most

Day jobs pass and hours, too
You ask me "How are you?"
You say "I'm sorry"
And it never will just seem enough
Until I call your bluff
At my funeral

Bleeding fingers and muddy toes
I've crawled to let you know
I hate this
And then it comes to me with speed of flash and suddenly
I'm desperate

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me
And my indecision
That matters the most

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me
And my indecision
That matters the most

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me
And my indecision
That matters the most

It's harder to feel
Stuck under wheels
Grinding in motion
To keep you alright
It's harder to see
Probably because of me
And my indecision

Oooo, oooo...
