"Always A Stranger"

Not far from the rigors of the city
There is a paved road that unwinds
If you go there you will find me sitting
On a broken bench breathing the night

So hard for you to tell me what you're thinking
Always a stranger, always a stranger
So far for you to see me now you're blinking
I think you're amazing, girl, I think you're amazing

I turn my hands, my palms are libraries
And now the evening swallowed me
If you go there you will find me sitting (we are snowflakes driving cars, together two of us alike)
On a broken bench breathing the night
(our temperatures the same we melt, this night, this night, this night)

So hard for you to tell me what you're thinking
Always a stranger, always a stranger
So far for you to see me now you're blinking
I think you're amazing, girl, I think you're amazing
Yehhh
Girl I think you're amazing

I'm waiting here alone
I'm waiting here alone
So hard for you to tell me what you're thinking
Always a stranger, always a stranger
So far for you to see me now you're blinking
I think you're amazing, girl, I think you're amazing
Yehhh
