Everybody needs a second chance
Everybody wants a little time
You hold my heart and I hold your hand
And together we'll be fine

Refrain:

We'll go back
Back to the days when we were wanted
Back to the stories that we left behind
Back to the days when we were young and wise

Everybody knows they need a friend
None is to blame and none pretends
They can always come to play
In that place where I can't stay

Refrain:

We'll go back
Back to the days when we were wanted
Back to the people that we left behind
Back to the days when we were young and wise

And I never thought I needed someone else
'Cause I'd always thought I stay here all by myself
So why don't you just go and say your goodbyes right now

Refrain:

We'll go back, cause we'll go back
Back to the days when we were wanted
Back to the stories that we left behind
Back to the days when we were young and wise
